Commercial Property Services

In the course of running your business, the premises you occupy and the basis of that occupation are important factors in the smooth running and profitability of your business. Whether you own your business premises or lease them from a commercial or private landlord, we can advise and assist you.

Please contact us when you first contemplate the sale or purchase of your business premises, or otherwise when the terms are agreed. Where commercial premises are concerned, it is vitally important that clear and fair Heads of Terms are drawn up at an early stage. Whilst a commercial selling agent may be employed to handle that task, we can work with the agent(s) to ensure that the Heads of Terms reflect your intentions and to enable you to proceed from a position of clarity. If there are no agents involved, we can prepare draft Heads of Terms and begin a dialogue with the lawyer acting for the other party. Once terms are agreed, we will do our best to ensure that the transaction progresses quickly and smoothly to completion.

The same principles apply to commercial lettings and we are confident in our ability to initiate and preserve a healthy commercial relationship between you and your landlord or tenant. We can also advise in situations where a lease is being assigned (transferred). Where commercial premises are already let, we can advise on issues which may arise during the course of that letting, such as rent reviews, property alterations, breaches of covenant and sub-lettings. We can also offer advice in relation to the termination or renewal of a business tenancy.
